February 23, 2010

SUMMARY OF BILL: Eliminates a party's right to appeal a final order by the Health Services and Development Agency or an initial order by an administrative law judge to the Davidson County Chancery Court for judicial review.

ESTIMATED FISCAL IMPACT:

Decrease State Expenditures – Not Significant

Assumptions:

- There could be a decrease in the number of appeals of administrative law judge or Health Services and Development Agency (HSDA) decisions. These appeals are few in number and any decrease will not result in a significant decrease in expenditures.
- Currently, the loser of such appeals is required to pay for the cost of transcripts of the hearing and any administrative law judge fees.
